Vet Pro~B Compressed Air Dental Unit

The PRO-B has two handpiece tubing's which are selected manually by the use of the handpiece selection switch, this automatically routes air and water supplies to the selected handpiece.

The flow rates are pre-set by the operator to match the handpiece and operators needs and the movement is controlled by the operator using the foot control. The control valves and switches are mounted under the base of the PRO-B control head easily accessible yet preventing ingress of moisture.

The PRO-B control unit is mounted on a mobile frame and the castors have brakes to protect against accidental movement. The Unit has a height adjustment facility to ensure a comfortable working position which also enables storage beneath work counters etc.
